

Bullet, Not Train May Have Killed Man

CAMDEN, Aug. 20 (Special)—Camden officers are investigating the possibility that a discharged Negro soldier was shot to death instead of killed by a train as reported.

Their attention to the case was called by a Negro undertaker here who found what appeared to be a bullet hole in the dead soldier's shoulder. The undertaker's belief was confirmed by the county physician.

The Negro, Jeff Doby, reportedly was killed by a train at Biloxi, Miss., August 14—10 days after he was discharged at Fort Hood, Tex.

His body had been returned here for burial when the hole in the shoulder was discovered.

Sheriff Moseley said that the matter is being thoroughly investigated.
